

Kansas Chronic Conditions (CC) Health Homes Target Population

People who have asthma or diabetes (including pre-diabetes and metabolic syndrome) who also are at risk of developing:

- Hypertension
- Coronary artery disease
- Depression
- Substance use disorder
- Being overweight or obese (Adult: BMI  $\geq$  25; Child: age-adjusted)

People who have asthma may also be referred for CC Health Homes if any of these documented risk factors are present:

- Current smoker or exposure to second-hand smoke
- Environmental exposures:
  - Air pollution
  - Industrial or chemical toxins
  - Dust mites, pets
  - Mold
  - Pollen
- Missed quality of care indicator:
  - No evidence of inhaled steroid prescription in last 12 months
  - Evidence of more than one rescue medication in the prior 6 months
- One or more emergency department visit for asthma or asthma-related complication in the prior 12 months
- One or more hospital admission for asthma or asthma-related complication in the prior 12 months
- In the top 25th percentile of Lead Entity's risk stratification for persons with primary condition

People who have diabetes (including pre-diabetes and metabolic syndrome) may also be referred for CC Health Homes if any of these documented risk factors are present:

- Current smoker or exposure to secondhand smoke
- Uncontrolled diabetes (as demonstrated by HbA1c or glucose tests)
- Missed quality of care indicator:
  - No HbA1c in the prior 12 months
  - No LDL cholesterol in the prior 12 months
  - No HDL/Triglyceride level in the prior 12 months
- One or more emergency department visit for diabetes or diabetes-related complication in the prior 12 months
- One or more hospital admission for diabetes or diabetes-related complication in the prior 12 months
- In the top 25th percentile of Lead Entity's risk stratification for persons with primary condition
- Non-compliance in taking medication regularly